Bright Young Man

STEADY WORK. OPPORTUNITY TO ADVANCE. MUST BE OVER 21 YEARS OF AGE. ADDRESS MANAGER, P. O. BOX 1026.

Why is platinum so valuable? When it is discovered?

Its great value, now more than twice that of gold, is on account of its important uses and the great demand for it and its scarcity. About 95 per cent of the world's annual supply comes from the Ural mountains, in Russia, where it is obtained with difficulty. It was first introduced into Europe from South America toward the middle of the eighteenth century and was first discovered and classified as a new metal by Sir William Watson, an English scientist, in 1750. It has been found in small quantities in Alaska and in two or three counties of Oregon and California, but not yet in sufficient quantity to lower the price.

What became of the suit brought a few years ago by the state of Kansas against the state of Colorado for diverting the Arkansas river for irrigating purposes?

It was dismissed by the Supreme Court of the United States on May 13, 1907.

How does fish compare with meat in respect of nutritive qualities—as, for instance, oysters with beefsteak? Different kinds of meat differ in food value, meat being much below beef, pork or mutton. Fish also vary in food value, oysters being among the least nutritious. Scientists regard food as fuel and measure food values by calories or heat producing qualities. According to this standard, they rate loin steak at 1,025 calories; fresh mackerel, 370; fresh codfish, 220; oyster, 225.

Was the franking privilege ever granted to a private citizen?

In 1828 congress by resolution granted it to Charles Carroll of Carrollton, then the only surviving signer of the Declaration of Independence.
